2026 Maryland International CCI and HT + Young Rider Championships

Welcome to the 2026 Maryland International CCI & HT + Young Rider Championships!

We're glad to have you at Loch Moy Farm for another unforgettable year of top-level sport, incredible horses, and the vibrant community that makes Eventing so special. Whether you're competing, cheering, sponsoring, or volunteering, this weekend reflects your passion and dedication.

A heartfelt thank you to our generous donor for making it possible to award $100,000 in FEI prize money!

As we mark the 20th Anniversary of The Maryland Horse Trials, we're deeply grateful for the support that has shaped this community. A huge thank you to our FEI sponsors - Triple Crown Feed (CCI4*-S), Finish Line Horse Products (CCI3*-S), Stubben NA (CCI2*-S), and VA/MD Tractor (CCI1*) - for helping bring this world-class event to life.

We're pleased to welcome back internationally acclaimed cross country course designer Andrew Heffernan, whose creativity and commitment to safety continue to elevate both the rider and spectator experience. We also value our ongoing partnerships with Eventing Nation and our official event photographer, Erin Gilmore Photography, for their outstanding coverage throughout the weekend.

We are proud to work alongside the Maryland International Equestrian Foundation (MIEF) to preserve the future of equestrian sport in Maryland by supporting riders, strengthening the community, and expanding access to opportunities at every level.

For those looking to enjoy the action in comfort, the Highland Club offers the best views, great food, and a relaxed atmosphere to take in the competition. Loch Moy Farm's 260 acres of stunning scenery, exceptional footing, and year-round calendar of competitions and schooling opportunities make it a truly special place to gather.

Wishing everyone a successful, safe, and exhilarating weekend!

Carolyn Mackintosh
Owner, Loch Moy Farm

The Maryland International Equestrian Foundation

Supporting the Maryland International & the Future of Eventing in Maryland

The Maryland International Equestrian Foundation (MIEF) supports equestrian sport in Maryland - from grassroots participation to international competition.

At the heart of that mission is the Maryland International CCI & Horse Trials, where riders, owners, and the community come together to showcase the very best of the sport. MIEF helps make that possible - ensuring high-level eventing remains accessible, competitive, and right here in Maryland.

Supporting Riders

Behind every ride is a significant investment of time, resources, and commitment. MIEF helps ease that burden and keep riders moving forward through targeted programs like the MDHT International CCI Scholarship and the Rider Pathway Scholarship Program - supporting riders from their first steps in the sport through FEI-level competition.

MIEF's impact also reaches the international stage. In 2025, the Maryland International Travel Grant brought five European riders to the MARS Maryland 5* at Fair Hill - four finishing in the top five, including winner Felix Vogg of Switzerland.

Strengthening the Community

Eventing is built on more than competition - it's built on people. MIEF supports Pony Clubs, local organizations, and volunteer initiatives that keep the sport running, growing, and welcoming.

Investing in the Future

The future of the sport depends on developing both riders and horses. Through initiatives like the Bred to Event Classic, MIEF supports young horse development and the breeders behind them - helping build a strong foundation for the next generation.

A Shared Effort

Loch Moy Farm provides the setting, but it's the collective support of donors, sponsors, volunteers, and competitors that makes the Maryland International possible.

Support MIEF

Help ensure that eventing in Maryland continues to thrive - from first rides to international competition.

What is Eventing?

Eventing is the ultimate equestrian challenge comprised of dressage, show jumping and cross country. It can be likened to a triathlon, with horses and riders demonstrating a range of skills across the three disciplines. Eventing has its roots in a comprehensive cavalry test that required mastery of several types of riding. Men and women compete against each other in every phase of eventing. To compete successfully in eventing, combinations must show harmony and rhythm in the dressage, balance and precision in the show jumping and accuracy and bravery in the cross country phase. The combination with the lowest penalty score at the end of the event is the winner. As horses and riders move up the levels, the difficulty and technicality of the phases increase.

Dressage

The first phase of eventing is dressage and involves performing a set sequence of movements in an arena. The test is judged by one or more judges who are looking for balance, rhythm, and suppleness. It is important for the horse to demonstrate obedience and harmony with the rider. Each movement is scored out of ten and then added up and converted to a penalty score, the lower the score, the better. The dressage phase takes place first at all levels of competition.

Show Jumping

The show jumping phase requires combinations to jump a single course of fences that can be knocked down. The number of fences may vary depending on the level of competition taking place. Penalties are incurred for knocking down fences, refusals and exceeding the time allowed. Horses must be balanced and adjustable to successfully negotiate the show jumping, especially as they move up the levels.

Cross Country

The cross country phase is the exhilarating highlight of the sport. A course of natural obstacles must be jumped inside an optimum time, and refusals and being too fast or too slow incurs penalties. At International level the cross country may take place before the show jumping depending on the class.
